Southward Trial

if the defense had filed such a motion after learning of the action of the state, no objection would have been raised to have a qualified expert examine the gun."

DURING this recess period the gun and the shot gun shell, alleged to have been exploded, were examined by Otis Stookey, who conducts a local watch and clock repair shop on South Fayette Street. He is recognized as an expert on guns in this locality, is a former city councilman and an adjuster of watches for a prominent railway company in this region as well as being considered an authority on guns.

It is understood that Stookey will be called later as a witness by the defense.

AFTER THE jury returned to its seats following the gun examination argument by attorneys, the first witness called Wednesday morning was Patrolman Robert Williams. He said he and Patrolman Albert Fryant answered a call to go to the Southward residence about 4:19 A. M. on Sept. 8. They found John Southward standing in the doorway asking if they knew if the ambulance called was on its way yet. The witness said Southward told the officers he had accidentally shot his wife. The wife was heard by the officers to ask from the bed where she was lying, "Oh Jack how does it come you shot me?"

Prosecutor Bath showed Williams a shot gun which the officer identified as the one taken from the Southward home after the shooting.

Herbert, on cross examination, called upon officer Williams to note that a shotgun shell he gave him, said to be the one which had been fired and was taken from the gun, was uneven on its base by reason of the detonation cap protruding. This brought objection from the state's attorney and the jury again was excused for argument to the court.

On further questioning Patrolman Williams said Southward had told the officers that he (Southward) and his wife had an argument that he had picked up the gun to scare her.

Dr. J. H. Persinger was called as a state witness, then was briefly excused while Arthur Swadner, X-ray technician from Memorial Hospital here was called to the stand to identify an X-ray picture taken of Mrs. Southward by him. Dr. Persinger then was brought back for questioning.

He said that Mrs. Southward was in a serious state of shock, with practically no pulse, heart weakened and very low blood pressure when she was examined by him and Dr. Hancock, the surgeon at the hospital. She was bleeding profusely from the left shoulder wound and was given four blood transfusions which seemed to bring her out of the state of shock.

Police Officer Howard Fryant was the final witness of the morning session. He reported under direct examination he and Pt Robert Williams had been called to the Southward home about 4:20 A. M. Sept. 8.

They found Southward standing on the front porch of his home on Oak Street, Fryant and Williams then went into the house, he said, where they found Ruth Southward stretched out on the bed with wounds in the left side of her neck and chest.

At about the time an ambulance arrived, Fryant testified, Mrs. Southward told him, "I'm dying."

I can't breathe." Fryant, Southward and the ambulance driver carried Mrs. Southward to the ambulance.

At the hospital, Fryant said Mrs. Southward told him that Southward "had threatened her for about an hour and then shot her." An objection was made by the defense on the grounds that Mrs. Southward had not been given a voir dire (legal examination) before her "attested dying declaration." The objection was overruled.

Court was recessed at noon, to resume at 1:30 P. M.

WHEN THE Tuesday afternoon session opened at 1:30 with Mrs. Norma Coil still on the stand as the state's witness, cross examination by the defense attorney, Herbert continued.

Mrs. Coil, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Southward, proved a reluctant witness in answering the defense attorney's questions and, with repeated objections being made by the attorney Leis for the state, there was difficulty in piecing together some of her answers.

Attorney Herbert kept up a persistent line of questions as to the number of times she and Mrs. Southward, the defendant's wife, had been out together. With the credibility of the answers by the witness allegedly under attack and numerous objections being raised by the state counsel, Judge Case stopped the questioning for a time while he conferred with attorneys on both sides and then he overruled the objection of the prosecution and permitted further cross examination.

Mrs. Coil, in answers to Herbert's further questions, denied being driven in a car in company with Mrs. Southward to her home by a man other than her husband. She also denied that on another occasion her husband William Coil, in her presence had told Mrs. Southward to stay away from the Coil home. She admitted, in answering another question that she and Mrs. Southward had gone together to several places, some of them out of this city. She said Mrs. Southward used her own car.

She said that a Mrs. Wentz was at her (Mrs. Coil's) home when she was away, looking after her children and a few times the Southward children. She denied she ever had heard Ruth Southward say she wanted to "get something on" her husband, the defendant, so that she could send him to the penitentiary and get a divorce.

THERE WAS evidence of an increasing tenseness in the courtroom atmosphere when the next witness, Mrs. Mary Pollard, the baby-sitter at the Southward home on the night of the fatal shooting, was called to the witness stand by the state.

Mrs. Pollard said she lived with her mother and her own three children at 502 West Elm Street; that she had worked for the Southwards for a few months at various times by staying with the Southward children.

She stated that she was at the Southward home on the night of Sept. 7 and the morning of Sept. 8. That John Southward had left the home sometime before 6 P. M. on the evening of the 7th and that Mrs. Southward left sometime after 6 P. M.

The witness showed evidence of being nervous and spoke in a very low tone which necessitated the court reminding her several times to speak out more clearly.

She said she was sleeping with the two Southward children in one of the bedrooms of their home when she heard Ruth and John Southward come home and go to their bedroom.

Asked about their conversation she said she was not in the habit of listening to other people's talk but that she did overhear them in conversation; that they talked for about two hours and seemed to be talking like they always did on other occasions.

When questioned sharply by the state as to whether she heard anything else, she said that she finally heard John Southward say something like: "come on and get up. We're going for a ride." She stated that Mrs. Southward said she was "not getting up." She then heard a sound like someone being struck with a fist, the witness said, and then heard Ruth scream "Jack, please don't do it." The witness then said that she heard someone go out of the bedroom and then come back; then came a noise which sounded like a heavy shoe hitting the door.

After he had called the ambulance, Southward brought the gun from the room and set it behind the door, Mrs. Pollard said.

UNDER CROSS examination by Herbert, Mrs. Pollard said she heard Southward tell his wife after calling the ambulance: "Honey, lay still. Don't move." She said she took the two Southward children to her mother's home every morning and kept them there until noon and that she had been with the Southwards for one and a half months.

Mrs. Pollard spoke so low that it was necessary to have the court reporter repeat her words frequently.

Referring to a transcript of the testimony at the preliminary hearing in municipal court, Herbert asked her about a number of things which had been asked her at that time and if her answers were correct.

For the most part she could not recall the questions and answers in municipal court.

Mrs. Pollard was recalled to the stand for further cross-examination after a 15 minute recess. She said it was not unusual for the Southwards to lie in bed and talk. She was excused subject to recall.

Dr. Edward Lawless, the Columbus surgeon who was one of the two surgeons who operated upon Mrs. Southward the afternoon of Sept. 10 a few hours before she died, was the third witness called for the state.

Under direct questioning by Leis, Dr. Lawless told how he had examined Mrs. Southward when she was admitted for surgery.

The operation started about 3:35 P. M., he said.

He said she was in a state of shock, or in a semi-comatose condition, or not exactly responsible for what she said. He said her condition was critical.

Many shot showed in the X-ray picture. It also showed four ribs partly missing and four others fractured.

Dr. Lawless stated that the cause of death given on the death certificate was "gunshot wound."

Asked to describe what he meant by saying Mrs. Southward was suffering from shock, he said it could be low blood pressure, rapid or slow beating of the heart, etc., and could affect the mental faculties completely.

"She had lucid moments and unconscious moments," he said and added her condition could have been such for two days.

Rotary History Given Club Here

50th Anniversary
Observed at Meeting

An outline of the history of Rotary International, its ideals, its objectives and its traditions were unfolded for the Washington C. H. club members at their regular Tuesday noon luncheon meeting at the Country Club by W. A. Miller of Xenia, a past governor of district 231 of the worldwide organization.

Miller was introduced by Colin C. Campbell, also a past district governor.

This program, as are all February programs, was based on the founding of Rotary in Chicago 50 years ago by Paul Harris.

After describing some of his own experiences in Rotary on both the local, district and international levels, Miller painted a word picture of the background of the organization and quoted from Harris' book, "My Road to Rotary."

He described the founder of Rotary as a dreamer and a drifter, who attended several academies and universities before he was finally graduated from the University of Iowa with a degree in law.

Although he had the education and training to become a lawyer, Miller said the founder of Rotary started traveling rather than enter into the practice of his profession. After going all over the United States, he said he boarded a cattle boat to cross the Atlantic and then drifted all over Europe.

Eventually, he came back and opened a law office in Chicago.

MILLER SAID Harris dreamed of an association of fellowships and, one evening while having dinner with some friends, he acted on an impulse and formed what eventually turned out to be the foundation of Rotary International.

That first Rotary Club, Miller said, was made up of only four members—Harris and three of his friends. He pointed out that they all were of different professions and vocations and gave no consideration to religion or politics.

"It was a simple plan," he said, "but with great vision...and, thus, Rotary International was born in February of 1905 in a hotel in Chicago."

Today, Miller said, "there are 8,500 Rotary clubs all over the world with more than 450,000 members. For comparison, Miller said, there are eight clubs in foreign countries to every nine in the United States and three Rotarians in foreign countries for every five in the United States.

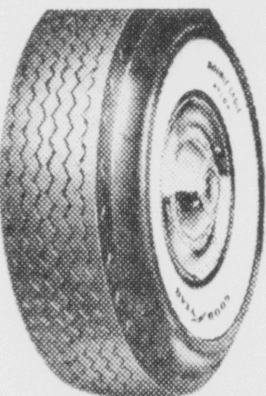

Miller said Rotary is spreading and predicted that Asia and Africa will have the biggest increase in new clubs in the immediate future.

AFTER PRESIDENT George Finley thanked Miller for his "fine and informative talk about Paul Harris, the founder of our Rotary

Father and Son Masonic Banquet Friday Evening

Plans for the annual Father and Son Banquet, which is to be held in the Masonic Temple here Friday at 6:30 P. M., today were complete except for the usual last-minute details.

A program that would be of interest to fathers as well as their sons has been arranged. One of its features will be the showing of a wildlife motion picture by Irvin Patrick, the county's game protector. Another will be the presentation of 25-year pins to half a dozen members of Fayette lodge of Masons for a quarter of a century or more. A junior past master's pin also is to be presented to Harold Moats.

Richard Rankin is to be the toastmaster for the occasion.

A roast chicken dinner—roast chicken with all the trimmings—is to be served by the members of the Eastern Star. Paul Mohr, the worshipful master, said "and there will be plenty of everything for everyone."

This is one of the big events of the year for the Masonic lodge

McNair Church Plans Are Laid

Vacation School
Dates Are Set

Tentative plans for the annual Vacation Bible School were laid when the teachers and officers of McNair Memorial Presbyterian Church on Lewis Street met for the first time this year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dellinger on Newberry Street.

This was the first thing on the agenda when new business was taken up. Mrs. Elmer Haymaker was named general chairman of the Vacation Bible School with Mrs. Russell Miller as the first assistant. The dates of June 6-17 inclusive were set for the school. Classes are to be held Monday through Friday for these two weeks.

Dr. Paul Elliott, the pastor of the church who also serves the Presbyterian Church at Bloomington, was in charge of the devotions. Frank Dellinger, the Sunday School superintendent, presided at the business session.

During the discussion of the Vacation Bible School plans, it was agreed that the classes probably would be held in the afternoon because the records showed a better response and attendance last year. The average attendance than at afternoon classes was 125. It also was brought out that the school is to be open to boys and girls who do not attend the McNair Church Sunday School as well as those who do.

Miss Carol Betts was appointed assistant pianist for the Sunday school. Mrs. Dewey Bumgardner is the regular pianist.

Plans for sending delegates to the Youth Conference next summer were discussed.

Gerald Leasure, one of the leaders, reported that there are now 30 members in the West Minister Fellowship.

Mrs. Naomi Reif and her daughter, Lorna Jo, were guests at the meeting.

Teachers and officers at the meeting were Mrs. Charles Keaton, Mrs. Richard Kelley, Mrs. Ivan Kelley, Gerald Leasure, Mrs. Clifford Foster, Mrs. John Warnecke, Mrs. Frank Dellinger and Mrs. Harry Fichtborn.

The evening was brought to a close with informal visiting.

A Disturbing Outlook In China and Formosa

Without question there is a disturbing aspect in the present outlook with reference to our own situation in the Red China-Formosa threats and struggle.

A standout feature of this situation is the realization that our country could, quite conceivably, find itself "isolated" to a great extent in the Far East, when none of our allies in the Korean war show our deep anxiety. Perhaps this is one of the great problems of a nation which has forged to the front in world leadership.

Britain and France have been doing business with the Chinese Communists right along. Some of our other allies in the Korean war have adapted the position that nothing is likely to precipitate a world-wide conflict because the danger of atomic warfare is so unthinkable great that any country will be afraid to start it.

There is grave concern over this attitude. It is a way of ridding oneself of all responsibility, and there are many countries throughout the world who apparently would welcome this opportunity of thrusting a unilateral role upon Uncle Sam.

China may be prepared to take advantage of this psychological immobilization to gain every possible advantage. The Reds know that we do not want war. They are banking upon this belief to extract every last inch of territory short of the war line. If they get away with this, they will utilize their victory for propaganda purposes throughout the Asiatic continent.

Our dilemma is great, but our intense desire for an ultimate settlement with the Communists without war is dictating the present policy, however, the recent stand taken by President Eisenhower and an overwhelming majority in congress, has shown the world that there is a limit beyond which we will not go. Maybe the Reds in China and the Communists dictatorship of Russia will see this in time to hold back from further aggression, but we must be alert to activate our determination if necessary.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Boy Scout movement is 45 years old.

And more boys than ever are now trying daily to do a good deed in a naughty world, a goal we grownups often chuckle over but actually admire greatly.

The Boy Scouts now have 3,700,000 members. The organization has grown every year since its founding in 1910, increased 72 per cent the last five years alone. But as the general population is aging rapidly, there are still plenty of elderly ladies for scouts to help cross a busy street intersection.

I am one of the more than 24 million Americans who have taken the Boy Scout oath:

"On my honor I will do my best to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight."

At least that is the way I remember the oath. And on my honor today I certainly have to admit to a number of shoddy falls from grace in keeping that pledge over the years.

But I don't hold with the few remaining minor league cynics who think the Boy Scout movement is a waste of time and its ideals are childish. On the other hand it isn't necessary for me to defend it as a key organization in the fight against juvenile delinquency. Its record proves that.

My reason for admiring the Boy Scouts is simply one of basic human gratitude. What I learned as a Scout later saved my life.

At 14, having graduated from tenderfoot and second class rank, I went to a two-week summer Scout camp determined to earn as many merit badges as I could.

For some reason I wanted above all to win a merit badge in swimming, although I could dog paddle only about 10 feet at a time.

Every moment I could escape the camp routine I spent in the river. A scout teacher taught me swimming strokes.

The day before the encampment ended I won my merit badge. Among other things I had to dive from a raft, retrieve from the river bottom a heavy iron sledge hammer equivalent to the weight of a 200-pound drowning man, and bring it back to the raft. Then, without rest, I had to swim 100 yards.

Never since then have I swam that far. Soon after leaving the encampment, I quit going to Scout meetings. For one thing, I belonged to the Eagle Patrol, and the Scout manual said our cry was "kree!" No matter how I yelled "kree!" I didn't feel like an eagle. Furthermore (since I guess I'm on my honor again) I got interested in girls. Looking back now, I realize this was one of those mistakes that change a man's lifetime.

But 17 years later I was in a boat in the third assault wave of Gen. George S. Patton's Western task force as it hit the coast of French Morocco Nov. 8, 1942.

Our landing craft missed the beach and ran full force into a coral outcropping. As the boat began to capsize, the lieutenant yelled:

"Everybody overboard."

A moment later I was over my head in water. The surf weighted my boots, pack and clothing like lead, and seemed to claw me under. Twice I swam to the coral rock, but it was crowded with soldiers from the front of the boat, and the waves washed me away. The third time, utterly worn out, I made it. But the soldier ahead of me had to lend me a hand to help get me up on the rock.

Two days later I went to a burial service near the spot where we had landed. Many of the pale-faced boys lying there in full combat dress were soldiers who had drowned coming ashore, unable to defend themselves against one of man's oldest foes—water. They never got to fight because they had never learned to swim.

If anybody tries to tell me that the Boy Scout movement isn't a wonderful thing—well, he's talking to a man who feels he owes his present existence to it.

The Sad Plight of Professors

When men speak of our "pink" universities, they rarely realize that in the rising wage scale of our country, those who deal with the most precious of our possessions, our children, have not been protected. They have in an inflationary era, during which the cost of living has risen enormously, grown poorer because their incomes buy less.

Men and women who are beset by personal problems can rarely devote themselves objectively to abstract thinking which fundamentally is the task of the scholar. In no part of the United States can a man with "white collar" responsibilities, married and perhaps with children to educate, live on $100 a week. The point is made in the statistics which I am about to quote that professors work for nine instead of 12 months a year which is meaningless because a man of learning has to continue to learn.

He cannot say that now that I have landed a job, I am all through with the acquisition of knowledge. A professor who adopted such an attitude would soon discover that some of his brighter students knew more than he did. These teachers have to read and do research, and go to meetings and keep themselves abreast of new material. Therefore it is not sound to say that they are paid for nine months of teaching and that for three months a year, they are unemployed. That may be good bookkeeping but it is stupid pedagogy.

I have before me a list of the salaries paid in history courses in 42 land grant colleges scattered over the United States. These salaries range as low as $3,000 a year for an instructor to $10,000 for a full professor. The average for all ranks in these 42 institutions, is $5,056.87 a year or less than $100 a week. The salary of a top stenographer-secretary in New York would average $90 a week which I insert by comparison. The average paid to instructors is $3,768.26 a year. Full professors will run as low as $4,574.75 a year.

Most of your sons and daughters are taught by instructors, assistant professors and associate professors. Their salaries run, in these colleges, between $3,768 and $5,342 a year.

As wages go in the United States, what this amounts to is that your sons and daughters are being educated by one of the most poorly paid groups in the entire American economy, by men and women who must be troubled by money problems, who, if they assume the normal responsibilities of family life, are driven by personal inadequacies to undertake or who leave teaching for other activities as soon as an opportunity presents itself.

It can be said, on the other hand, that those who undertake to teach have other aims than monetary compensation. That, in no way, affects the case. Those who teach ought to be adequately compensated for the work they do if it is worth doing at all. It would be preferable to have fewer colleges of a higher quality than to have so many inadequately financed to provide instruction by scholars of sufficient peace of mind and leisure to be more than examination paper markers. Teachers ought to be an inspiration to the youth whose minds they mold.

By George Sokolsky

The danger to the country in underpaid teachers is that their personal embarrassments and dissatisfactions are bound to express themselves in their teaching and in their casual conversations with students. It would be interesting for a sociologist to go back to the 1930's, for instance, to study the circumstances that diverted so important a number of young men and women, then at college, to an ardent, fanatical service to Communism, some of them even becoming spies for Soviet Russia.

We generally damn these individuals and say that there were so many others who did not go their way. That answer is not good enough for one who really seeks to understand social phenomena. There were too many who were influenced by Communism and it cannot altogether be correct that the poverty of the faculty had nothing to do with it, or has nothing to do with it today.

A constructive way to fight subversion is to remove personal attitudes which seem to the individual to justify subversion. Surely one of them would be to adjust the wage scale of university instruction to current living conditions.

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

The proper foods are essential to avoid constipation. You've got to have an adequate supply of meat, eggs, milk, butter, fruits, vegetables and the whole grain cereals.

All of you won't be able to follow the same diet, so I'm not going to prescribe one. I will tell you, however, what foods generally will help you to remain regular.

An Eating Program

First of all, eat about the same amount for each meal. Don't eat a light breakfast and a light lunch, and then down a hefty supper. Eat regular times, too, when the food is coming.

Eat Any Fruit

You can eat any fruit that agrees with you, either cooked or fresh. Juices from oranges, prunes, grapefruit and other fruits are all right, too. But don't substitute them for the whole fruit. The whole fruit increases the natural bulk which your body needs for regularity.

I also recommend all vegetables. You should eat at least two vegetables at both lunch and supper. Any potatoes you want should be in addition to those vegetables.

While these fruits and vegetables will supply most of the necessary bulk you can't eliminate meat, poultry, fish and eggs from your diet. True, they are low in residue, but you've got to eat them along with your vegetables and fruits to maintain a properly balanced diet.

Ordinarily, I would advise that you drink at least one pint of milk a day.

Cherry Hill PTA Has Discussion Of Education

College Degree
Called Important
But Not Necessary

Although a college education is becoming more and more important, self-education can do much to make up for the lack of one, Paul Frank of Columbus, a central Ohio newscaster, told the Cherry Hill Parent-Teacher Association meeting Monday evening.

His talk was preceded by a short business session conducted by the president, Robert Sanderson.

The plaque for having the most parents in attendance went to Mrs. Ernest Stanforth's fourth grade room.

Since this is Boy Scout Week, the Cubs of Pack 229, which is sponsored by the PTA, took part in the program.

Wendell Barr, the cubmaster, presented each of the five dens of the pack. They gave the Bobcat requirements and showed some of their handcraft.

Mrs. Marvin Thornburg, the vice president, introduced the speaker of the evening.

A college degree does not guarantee that the holder is an educated person, and anyone with little or no formal schooling can become educated through his own efforts, Frank said.

"We talk of 'giving' our children an education," Frank commented. "That is an obvious absurdity. No indulgent parent, and no institution of learning, can give anyone an education. The best we can do is to give the individual an opportunity to learn."

FRANK OUTLINED a number of qualities which an educated person should have. They included:

The educated person cultivates an open mind, he always listens to one who knows, he never laughs at a new idea, he knows the secret of getting along with other people, he cultivates the habit of success, he links himself with a just cause, and he knows it is never too late to learn.

Although the value of a college diploma and other formal education should not be underestimated every person can do much to help himself toward becoming educated through self-study, he stressed.

He explained how inadequate many of our schools are in facilities and personnel. He cited the great needs which will have to be met in the future as enrollments continue to rise.

For every student who attends college there is at least one more equally able and anxious, who cannot afford to attend," Frank said, as he urged expansion of facilities and lowering of costs of higher learning.

"Finally, let us remember that education neither begins nor ends in the classroom. No one ever completes an education, for all of life is or should be a process of education," he concluded.

Your School Report Card

By W. A. SMITH
(City School Superintendent)
Oscar went visiting this last week and received a warm reception from the fifth and sixth graders at Cherry Hill School.

Oscar wanted to help the students in their health classes, and he concealed nothing from them. That he had a big heart was quite evident, because he had it removed to show the students.

This was no great operation. Oscar is the life-size plastic torso used in the biology lab for demonstrating the location and function of the different organs of the body. Each organ may be removed for closer inspection, and by releasing a catch, the organ itself further opens to show how it is made up, and what it does.

Having been studying the parts of the body in their health classes, Earl Miller, principal and sixth grade teacher, decided that the best way to get the information across to the students was to borrow Oscar and let them see for themselves.

Mrs. Amelia Child's fifth graders were brought in to see and discuss this modern teaching aid. Oscar's heart convinced them that the Valentine hearts were not much like the real thing.

Models of the eye, ear, and teeth, much larger than the real thing, were used in the discussion of the function and care of these vital parts.

Oscar will soon be visiting the other city schools to carry on his educational duties.

A discussion of the production of sugar in Florida and Ohio brought forth a different twist in Central's fifth grade taught by Miss Opal Davids.

Jeanne Moore, one of the students, bought some sorghum which had been purchased by her father during the family's recent trip in Kentucky. Sorghum as a sugar product was quite new to most of the students. Each was given a sample taste by Jeanne and her helpers, Freda Hamilton and Ruth Ann Minshall.

Some of the students asked for "seconds", but a number didn't care for it at all. One of those liking it particularly was Freda Hamilton, who developed a short-lived

Six Teams in Area Play Friday Night

Six of the seven high school teams in this immediate area will be in action Friday night, but only two of them will be playing on their home floors.

Five of them will be playing the last game on their regular schedule before they plunge into the county tournaments.

Only the Lions of Washington will continue playing games on their schedule after Friday night—and they have three of them. Friday night they will be at Wilmington for an SCO League tilt.

The Fayette County League spotlight will be on Jeffersonville where the Warriors from Madison Mills will be taking on the Tigers.

The Jeffersonville outfit, which has won nine and lost five this season, is right on the heels of the Bloomingburg Bulldogs in the championship race. The Tigers and Bulldogs have broken even in two games this season and those are the only league games either team has lost. However, the Bulldogs hold the edge in the race because they have completed their schedule and the Tigers have yet to contend with the boys from Madison Mills.

If the Tigers beat the Warriors Friday night, they will share the season's honors with the Bloomingburg boys.

These two teams, then will go into the county tournament, which starts in the WHS gym next Tuesday, on even terms to battle it out for the championship and the right to go to the district tournament at Oak Hill early in March.

Although the Warriors piled up 81 points in winning from Good Hope's Mad Anthons last Friday for their second victory of the season, they are the underdog; for Friday's game at Jeffersonville.

BLOOMINGBURG'S Bulldogs, who have won 11 and lost 7, have finished their league play but will be at Lancaster for a class B game against a new opponent Friday night. New Holland's Bulldogs, who have won only two games in 13 this season, will be playing at Monroe in a Pickaway County League game.

Good Hope's aggregation of never-say-die basketballers, have been handicapped by lack of height despite their good spirit, are to entertain the boys from Salt Creek. Although the Mad Anthons lost to the Warriors last Friday night, they collected 75 points—and that's enough to win a lot of basketball games.

One of the two games this season by the Warriors was from the Salt Creek outfit. The Good Hope team beat the Warriors in their first game, but lost by 6 points the second time they met.

While the class B school teams are winding up their schedules, the Lions of WHS will be at Wilmington for a crucial SCO League game with the unbeaten Hurricane. The Lions went down, 64 to 45, before the Hurricane attack when they met here Dec. 10.

THE LIONS have lost only two SCO games this season and, by odd coincidence, the only SCO games left on their schedule are with the two teams that beat them—The Hurricane and Greenfield's Tigers.

They will meet the Tigers on the WHS floor a week from Friday night. The outcome of these two games will determine whether the Lions finish in a tie with the Tigers for the No. 2 spot or in third place in the league.

The Lions, who started the season with only one player with any experience of consequence in Varsity play, have now won 10 and lost only five games.

Neither Coach Bob Shaw nor the Lions are making any rash predictions about Friday night's game at Wilmington. They all have a healthy respect for the prowess of the Hurricane. But, they make no secret of their hope that they can win this one.

And, they are encouraged by the momentum their offensive has been gathering steadily since the start of the season when they won their opener with 51 points and then scored 83 points in winning their fifteenth game last Saturday night at Beaver Creek.

Of the seven teams in this area, only the one at Atlanta will be idle; it completed its schedule last Friday night with a victory over the Pickaway County League's front runners from Scioto.

Atlanta Wins Game For March of Dimes

New Holland's Bulldogs were handed a 74 to 52 defeat by their neighbor cagers at Atlanta Tuesday night, but what really counted was the $80 that was turned over to the March of Dimes to help fight polio.

This was a specially booked benefit game and the turnout was all that had been hoped for.

Buz Gerhardt, Atlanta's ace, came through with 13 field goals from all angles and all distances and 8 charity tosses for 34 points to lead the scoring.

Large was the big gun for New Holland; he got 20 points on 6 field goals and 8 free throws.

While the rivalry between these two teams is always keen, the Bulldogs are out of the race for the Pickaway County League title and that took some of the edge off of the game.

Since the county tournament is just around the corner for both teams, this polio benefit was considered of added value for keeping the boys in shape.

New Holland's Reserves won the preliminary by a score of 31 to 24.

Warriors Win On Foul Shots

Ability to make good at the foul line enabled the Madison Mills Warriors to come from behind to take a 73-67 victory over Canaan High School's cagers Tuesday for their third win of the season.

Both teams hooped 26 field goals but the Warriors made 21 of 28 charity tosses while their Madison County visitors hit on 15 of 25 chances.

Kenneth Slager and Bob Caudill paced the Warriors with 24 and 21 points respectively. Slager's 8 fielders came mostly on long shots and drive-ins, while Caudill scored on corner shots and rebounds. DeLay contributed 12 points to the Warrior's winning margin.

Griffith of Canaan took scoring honors for the night as he dropped in 9 fielders and 8 fouls for 26 points. Most of his two-pointers came on one-handed jump shots. Carter had 17 points.

One of the larger crowds of the season turned out to see the encounter. Coach Frank Creamer's Warriors, who now have a season record of 3 wins and 12 losses, will close out their regular season schedule at Jeffersonville Friday. The Jeffs hold an 83-63 win over the Warriors this season with an 81-75 win over Good Hope and a 96-75 loss to South Solon in their last two previous outings.

The Canaan Junior High team topped Madison 31-43 in the pre-lim last night.

Bloomingburg Cagers Beat Darby, 61 to 45

If their 61 to 45 victory over Darby's cagers is any criterion, Bloomingburg's Bulldogs are going to be tough to handle in the Fayette County tournament which opens Feb. 15 in the WHS gym.

They'll meet Jeffersonville's equally tough Tigers in tourney's first Varsity game.

In swamping the Darby boys, the Bulldogs launched a three-pronged attack with Anderson, with 19 points, Vincent with 17 and Lee with 14 on the firing line while their mates passed up the ammunition.

While the Bulldogs offense really never had to be thrown into high gear, their defense throttled the Darby attack effective in three periods. The Bulldogs eased up in the third period when the Darby boys got 16 points, their best period of the game.

Tom McCoy netted 7 points, but his defensive play was outstanding. He blanked Darby foot 2 inch center, the first time this season he has been shut out. Biddle was the rebounding star for the Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs made 9 of 18 free throws and the Darby boys hit 13 to 23.

The Bloomingburg Reserves won the preliminary, 42 to 38, in an exciting game.

Capacity Audience Gets Laughs From Annual Lions Minstrel

A capacity crowd cheered and jeered, laughed and relaxed, and gave resounding approval as the Washington C. H. Lions Club presented its annual minstrel show at the high school auditorium Tuesday night.

Titled "Minstrel Varieties of 1955", the show combined the showmanship, talents, and hard work of nearly all members of the club. Upwards of 1200 persons in the audience relaxed for two hours as the Lions and their ladies performed acts, most of which lampooned the individuality of local dignitaries.

"The show was our most successful since 1951," an official said today. Area children will benefit most from the Lions' efforts since proceeds from the show will go toward the Lions No. 1 project—sight conservation.

One high point of the show was a skit, "The Cat's Meow," presented by a group of women from the Lioness club. The scene mimicked the goings on in a lady's beauty parlor during the roaring 20's with the performers properly attired for maximum effect.

Mrs. Paul Rodenfels played the part of "Gertie," the operator of the shop; Mrs. Tom Christopher was "Evelyn," the clean-up girl; Mrs. Richard Junk was "Hortense Highecock," a customer; Mrs. Robert Lytton was "Vi," an operator; Mrs. Richard Willis Jr. was "Fanny Fancypants," a customer; Mrs. C. R. Griffiths was "Dottie Droop," a customer who needed help; and Mrs. Ray French was "Lucy Radebaugh," another customer.

Another highspot of the show was when Frank Weade began to sing a solo, "Walking My Baby Back Home." "Baby" never made it home, however, as Weade was good-naturedly booted off the stage by noisy members of the audience.

James Shoemaker came on stage to save the day with a pantomime solo of Johnny Ray which met with a better audience.

Another specialty that brought cheers from the audience was the interpretation of "Mambo" by Dr. Charles Pfersick and Robert Lytton, both endmen in the show. Lytton was dressed as the feminine partner complete with high heel shoes. As an encore they gave their rendition of the Charleston.

During the singing of the chorus of "Row-Row-Row," Dr. Pfersick and Emery Lynch appeared in a row boat and moved about the stage depicting the words by the chorus.

Marting and Lynch teamed together in a tap dance routine which was also a crowd pleaser.

Performances turned in by the "End Men," who interspersed their comedy skits among the other numbers, were also well received. The End Men included Emerson Marting, Emery Lynch, Dr. Charles Pfersick, Robert Lytton, Robert Terhune, and Charles Griffiths.

All other numbers met with instant and loud approval from the audience. The orchestra opened the show with three popular numbers before the curtain went up. Directed by Paul Van Voorhis, the orchestra included John Leland, Larry Wical, Benny Backenstoe, Earl Palmer, Dale Fenn, Mary Jeanne Schwaigert, Doug Rider, Larry East and Robert Crouse.

Wayne Bower, Lions president, made the welcoming speech. The chorus then sang eight selections. Members of the chorus were John Bailey, Dick Berger, Wayne Bower, Earl Dunaway, Fred Ennsen, L. F. Everhart, Richard Gillen, Dustin Gorton, Clarence Hackett, Neil Helfrich, Robert Boyd, Dr. D. R. Junk, William Junk, Edwin McCoy, Langdon McCoy, Thomas Mark, Robert Meriweather, Jr., Hilbert Meyer, Robert Marshall, Luke Musser, Robert Nigh, Robert Olinger, Willard Parrett, Russell Hinchey, Charles Reinke, Walter Rettig, John Richards, Robert Sanderson, Dale Smith, Robert Terhune, R. B. Therp, William Thompson, Harry Thraillkill, Ray Warner, Joseph White, Wayne Woodard, Richard Willis Jr., Harold Scott, Richard Rankin, Howard Wright, and Wendell Briggs.

A solo, "Teach Me Tonight," by Andy Loudner followed. Bob Terhune, assisted by Harry Thraillkill, then sang "This Old House."

The quartette, consisting of Harry Thraillkill, Howard Wright, Richard Rankin, and Wendell Briggs, sang two selections and appeared after intermission to sing a medley of old favorites.

The second half of the show opened with three tunes by the orchestra and nine numbers by the chorus followed by the Meade-Shoemaker incident.

Robert Minshall gave the narration: "What Is a Boy?" He had given the same narration three years ago and repeated it because there had been so many requests for it.

The last thrill for the audience came when Mrs. Richard Willis Jr. sang "Count Your Blessings," with her husband and children depicting the average family at home. The quartette and chorus joined in after the solo, for the grand finale.

John Sagar served as interloper for the show. John Breiner was general chairman of the production staff. Others who assisted with production were R. B. Tharp, Dr. Charles Pfersick, Dr. John Richards, Emerson Marting, Harry Thraillkill, Bill Clift, J. Roush Burton, Robert Sanderson, Paul Rodenfels, Ray French, Paul Van Voorhis, G. B. Vance, Roger Grim, Michael Arnold, Ronnie Graves, Don Crissinger and Dr. C. R. Griffiths.

Malenkov Gets

the government following yesterday's change in premiers, the parliament today heard only a long series of speakers on foreign policy. They all endorsed Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's denunciation yesterday of U. S. "aggression" in the Far East and in Europe.

Molotov also hinted yesterday that the Soviet Union might be ahead of the United States in the development of the hydrogen bomb. Konev, in an apparent reference to nuclear warfare, said recent army maneuvers "have improved the Soviet army's training in ways based on modern Soviet science."

"Our army represents a mighty force which fully answers the demands and characteristics of modern war," he continued. "If the imperialists dare to attack our motherland, the Soviet armed forces have at their disposal all kinds of weapons for the complete defeat of the aggressors."

HE CHARGED American - led "imperialists" are surrounding the Soviet Union with bases and propagandizing atomic warfare, but under these circumstances "the Soviet loses no time in perfecting its skill and training."

Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev's growing prominence in the Soviet leadership was further spotlighted today when he again led government and party leaders into the chamber for the joint session of parliament.

Behind him came Georgi Malenkov, who yesterday resigned as premier, and then Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, who succeeded to the top government spot. The Soviet members applauded all three.

The Kremlin announced this morning that Bulganin had given up his former post as defense minister to Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, the Soviet Union's top soldier.

The absence of any word on other changes in the nation's leadership left still unanswered these key questions:

1. Will Khrushchev, who nominated Bulganin to replace Malenkov as premier, enter the government? Or will he continue to oversee Soviet development plans from only his party post?

2. What new duties will be assigned to Malenkov, who stepped down with a confession of failure to do his job? The announcement of his resignation said he would take on other duties—unspecified.

Sabina Woman Kills Self Tuesday

Mrs. Gladys Irene Jordan, 22, died Tuesday of self-inflicted shotgun wounds at her home in Sabina. She was found dead by her husband, Harry Jordan, when he returned from work at 11:45 A. M. Tuesday.

Dr. John Williams, coroner, set the time of Mrs. Jordan's death at about 9:30 A. M. and ruled it a suicide. The shotgun pellets severed an artery in her abdomen, he said, and internal bleeding was the cause of death.

Jordan told Sheriff Floyd Foot that he could find no reason for suicide. The shotgun was not loaded when he left the house Tuesday morning, he told the sheriff, but four cartridges were in a bureau drawer. The sheriff found only three in the drawer.

Jordan is a roofer employed by the Lucien Bartlett Metal Works. Other survivors are Mrs. Jordan's father, David Kerns of Harveysburg; her mother, Mrs. Marie Dunford Dean; a daughter, Marilyn Sue, 2; and a sister, Mrs. Phyllis Jean Rhoads of Greenfield and a half-sister, Miss Shirley Dean of Wilmington.

Mrs. Jordan was a member of the Full Gospel Church at Harveysburg.

Funeral services will be held at 2 P. M. Friday at the Littleton Funeral Home in Sabina. Burial will be in the Sugar Grove Cemetery in Wilmington.

Friends may call at the funeral home after noon Thursday.

Rezoning Requests Here Turned Down

Two applications for rezoning of residential areas to commercial were turned down by the Washington C. H. Zoning Board at a special public hearing.

A request had been made by the Standard Oil Co. for rezoning of a corner at Market and Lewis Streets so a service station could be built there. The other was by Herbert Nushawg for establishing a commercial area at the corner of Clinton and Fairview Avenues. Approximately 25 persons most of them residents of the areas involved, attended the meeting.

A plot of a proposed new addition to the sub-division off Elm Street, submitted by Damon Baker was approved by the board. The county commissioners also must act on it.

Action was deferred on a request for permission to enlarge the Ormer Market at Temple and Lewis Streets.

Dope Use Studied

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cuyahoga County's chief probation officer, Richard J. McManus reported yesterday that drug addiction was a factor in 12 to 15 per cent of the 1,306 cases his department handled in 1954. He said addiction figured especially in burglary cases.

Bloodmobile To Come Thursday

Donor List Is Long But 'More Needed'

Thursday is Bloodmobile day. From 10 A. M. to 4 P. M., the Red Cross blood donor's unit will be in the basement of the First Christian Church. The Graduate Society, sponsor of this visit of the Bloodmobile, has pledges of many donors, according to Mrs. Robert Poppen, co-chairman of the Graduate committee in charge.

But more donors are always needed, she said. If anyone who wants to give blood has not yet been given an opportunity to sign a pledge card, he should call either Mrs. Poppen or her co-chairman, Mrs. Donald Moore.

Many questions have been asked about what food to eat before donating, Mrs. Poppen said. She offered these suggestions: avoid fatty or oily foods and do not eat or drink dairy products for six hours before donating.

Transportation to or from the church may be obtained by telephoning Miss Garnet Huston of the Business and Professional Women's Club. Members of the club will drive donors to and from the blood center.

Anyone who needs a babysitter will find plenty at the church, Mrs. Poppen said. Members of Graduate will sit.

Company Fails To Send Light Tube

City Manager James F. Parkinson was not in a happy mood Wednesday after he made a second telephone call to the Crouse Hinds Co., of Syracuse, N. Y. regarding emergency order he had placed with the company by phone last Friday, and learned that the mercury tubes ordered for the traffic light at that time, and not been shipped.

His original instructions were to rush the tubes here at once by mail, and when he found the company had not even shipped the tubes, he was upset and informed the company that their negligence in shipping the tubes was tying up the entire circuit of uptown lights here.

Operation of the lights now awaits the arrival of the tubes.

4-H Club Activities

EBER BUSY FINGERS

New officers of the Eber Busy Fingers 4-H club are Sally Howard, president; Jane Kuebler, vice-president; Karen Carmen, secretary; Marsha Craig, treasurer; Joyce Warnecke, news reporter; and Sharon Cline and Mary Catherine Thompson, recreation leaders.

Election was held at the group's last meeting at the home of Mrs. Bert Fenner, advisor. The girls discussed child care, baking, first aid, sewing and home furnishing projects.

Next meeting will be held Monday at the Howard home.

WAYNE PROGRESSIVE FARMERS

Committees to plan a square dance and swim party in the near future were appointed during the last meeting of Wayne Progressive Farmers 4-H Club, with President Johnny McFadden conducting the meeting and 32 members were present.

On the dance committee are Jackie Hoppes, Stanley Smith and Eddie McCoy. The swim party group includes Gene Gustin, Jo Ann Bonham, David Orr and Jay Bonecutter.

The club voted a donation to the polio fund. June Overly was accepted as a new member.

After the business session the members formed three groups and discussed their various projects. Larry Kellenberger and Jackie Hoppes headed the recreation committee. Refreshments were served by Gary Cockrell, Gene Gustin and Sam and David Mathews.

Mrs. Pauline Cannon Funeral Services

Funeral services for Mrs. Pauline Cannon were held Tuesday at 2 P. M. at the Alvin G. Little Funeral Home in Jeffersonville, followed by interment in Fairview Cemetery near Jeffersonville.

Rev. George Groh, Jr. pastor of the Milledgeville Methodist church, conducted the services, reading from the Bible, offering prayer and delivering the sermon. He also read the hymns "It is No Secret" and "Lead Kindly Light".

The floral tributes were cared for by the pallbearers, Willard Kirk, Gilbert Coil, Walter DeWitt, Dewey Crowe, Paul Baughn and John Cannon.

Young Farmers Talk On Parasite Control

The Young Farmers class discussed the control of parasites on sheep at their meeting. Means of getting rid of both internal and external parasites were examined. Dewey Huffman led the discussion.

The meeting was originally to have featured a talk on Social Security for farmers, but a representative of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare who was to lead the discussion was unable to attend.

The Social Security discussion will take place on Feb. 28 instead.

In charge of the discussion will be Leonard Garrard of the Columbus Social Security office.

Another postponed event, the Young Farmers' tour of the Central Ohio Breeding Association farm near Columbus, will be held next Sunday. It was to have been last Sunday, but slick roads kept the class at home.

Attending the meeting were Sam Marting, Roger Gorman, Jim Cunningham, Don Thompson, Ray Jinks, Neil Rowland, Malcolm Bloomer, Hugh Wilson, Max Schlichter, Daryl Bailey, Paul Miller, Larry Cleland, Roger Dorn, Joe Pope, John Cook and Mackey McDonald.
